For example, I want to be able to do something like the following: /blog/5-trends-in-the-web-marketing-world-for-2011 I'm thinking maybe a route like this is what I need: "Blog(/5-trends-in-the-web-marketing-world-for-2011) Thank you in advance. A: [HttpGet] public ActionResult TrendsInTheWebMarketingWorldFor2011() { return View(); } If you're going to put it in the controller name, I'd recommend not using the route config, instead putting it on the action. Synthetic routes to access novel diaminobenzylpyrrolidines, benzazepinones and piperidines. A strategy is presented for the synthesis of novel diaminobenzylpyrrolidines, benzazepinones and piperidines, derived from piperidine by reduction of piperidino(bromomethyl)benzene. Thus, by the use of a range of substituted piperidines, a series of fused heterocyclic compounds bearing a piperidinyl- or aminoalkylben 2edc1e01e8

I have worked hard and all I have to show for it is a worthless degree, a massive debt, and a family that I am paying out of pocket. Like most, I blame my parents. My mother had two degrees and my father, well, he just had one. One that wasn't worth shit. That's why I have to work for a living. So, you see, my parents have been to college and they know a thing or two. My parents had to sacrifice so that I could have a stable life, so I wouldn't have to worry about money while they sat at home and watched me work. My parents have sacrificed so that I could go to college and get a good job. So, what is the solution? The solution is to have children, and the sooner the better. Like me, they will not be able to get into the same type of college that my parents got into. (No tuition assistance here.) And they will not be able to pay a half of my student loans either. And like me, they won't have a fucking job, and they will have to take low-paying jobs to make ends meet. And yet, I'm supposed to give my parents everything and apologize for the fact that I might not have as much as them. That my financial situation is going to be in shambles until I'm 40 and I'm not going to be able to buy them a car or get them
