The new release of VLC Media Player 2.0.6 is out now! It sports a new “Join User Session” which helps to make the program more responsive in the context of the video streaming websites. The Media Center added improvements to the remote controller feature and a view of the remote server for a more convenient operation. You can also use a specific remote controller to control the VLC Media Player. Finally, this version features a new option to select the main output devices. Furthermore, VLC Media Player 2.0.6 adds support for Internet Explorer 11, Firefox 22 and Chrome 31. We invite you to download VLC Media Player 2.0.6 for Windows and Mac OS X right now! As we know, thanks to the Firefox Send service, an instant and safe file sending is possible. For those who don't know, the Firefox Send extension helps you to use this service to quickly and safely send files. You just need to choose a file on your computer and then send it to the desired email address. When the email arrives, the file will be instantly sent to the recipient. Moreover, you'll get a notification in your Mozilla account. The extension comes in handy when you want to send images, video files, music files or text files to a friend or when you need to send files to many people at once. The Firefox Send extension lets you send files in a fast and secure manner. Of course, you can also choose to encrypt the files during the sending process. That way, you can be sure that the receiving party won't be able to get access to your files. More information about this service is available on the official Firefox website. After months of development, WebTorrent has finally launched its new WebTorrent 2.0 extension for Google Chrome. The software provides a simple interface that allows users to easily create and share torrents. Plus, it's not necessary to have a separate program such as uTorrent in order to download torrents. All in all, WebTorrent 2.0 sports a good set of tools that allow you to create torrents, track and manage your torrents, as well as rate torrents and comment on files that you are downloading. All these features are easy to use and will not take up a lot of your time. To be able to use the WebTorrent 2.0 extension, it is recommended
